PROJECTS

Fluid-X (Client E-commerce Website)

- Developed a full-stack e-commerce website for a client clothing brand (Fluid-X) to showcase and sell merchandise online. Built using the MERN stack with product display, brand content, and a WhatsApp-based ordering system for direct purchases. Deployed frontend on Vercel and backend on Render for production use.
- Live : <https://www.fluidx.store/>

Smart Healthcare Platform (Microservices Architecture - University Project)

- Developed a microservices-based smart healthcare platform as a group project using the MERN stack. Designed and implemented backend services within a distributed architecture for scalability and modularity. Used Docker for containerization and service isolation across services.
